PERSONALISED HOMECARE RECOMMENDATIONS

2 April 2026

I'm delighted to craft a skincare ritual for you that honours both the intensity of Caribbean sun and your desire to nurture your skin's resilience and radiance naturally, without invasive measures.

What To Expect

- Within the first two weeks, you may notice your skin feels more hydrated and balanced as the essence and hyaluronic acid begin plumping dehydrated areas while the corrective cream addresses fine lines.
- By week four to six, you should see improved skin texture, firmer appearance, and a more radiant complexion as the EGF and SPF50 work together to support your anti-ageing goals in the tropical climate.

Skincare Tips

GETTING THE MOST FROM YOUR SPF

- SPF is the single cheapest, easiest and most effective anti-ageing tool available and most people are not using it correctly.
- Apply it as your final morning step and use enough, a full teaspoon for face and neck.
- Ideally reapply every two hours, but as a minimum a factor 50 will protect you all day as long as you do not excessively sweat or wipe it off.

BASIC FACIAL AFTERCARE

- Your skin has been deeply cleansed and treated today, give it space to breathe.
- Keep your routine simple for the next 24 hours, cleanser, moisturiser and SPF only.
- Drink plenty of water, hydration supports everything your skin is doing right now.
- Some mild redness or sensitivity is completely normal and will settle quickly.
- If anything concerns you, please reach out.
